
TSR Series

Description

Features

When arrived at adjusted temperature and shut off the power, it doesn't reset automatically and should be restarted artificially by pressing the reset button when needed as a one pole single switch device system. When lost the first adjustability of the other equipment, this product can be used as a safety device. You can set up the temperature in advance while manufacturing and you can choose the set-up temperature up to 350°C at most.